

WEBER CHIROPRACTIC OFFICE, SC

30th Anniversary Celebration 1978 - 2008

Wow! Who would have thought that some crazy kid could have started a chiropractic and acupuncture practice in East Dubuque, Illinois and make it last for 30 years? Well, by the grace of God and maybe some determination, we have seen over 12,000 new patients over those years and we continue to learn new and effective ways to help those new and returning patients with their health problems. If you compound those learning years, it adds up to experience that no school or latest technological marvel can teach you. At the risk of sounding political, experience does count and each post graduate class taken changes the way you look at people's problems and gives you a better understanding of what is wrong and how to treat it. As one patient stated, "The biggest difference between you and other chiropractors is you have more tools in your toolbox." Experience also shows you what to treat and what not to treat. That practice has led to respect within the surrounding medical community and we are privileged to have many referrals from other physicians in the area.

Through all these years, one thing continues to remain constant and that is that movement within joints is the primary focus of manipulative treatment. When joints move freely, even arthritic ones, inflammation is reduced and function is restored. This helps patients feel better and they live more productive lives. When you add appropriate rehabilitation exercises and nutrition to the treatment plan, you change people's lives forever. Now that means I probably won't have to see that patient as much over the years, but I would rather make that person a patient for life and see them only when they need me.

Success has been described as being able to help another person better themselves. Each day, I am privileged to help many people feel better and live the way they want to through chiropractic, rehabilitation, acupuncture, and nutrition. By that standard, I feel extremely successful. When someone says "I hope you never retire because I wouldn't know where to go to get this kind of care" or "I've been to other doctors and they could never figure this out, but you have," that's the greatest compliment I can receive. It makes all the weekends in class and the long office hours worthwhile because I am making a positive difference in people's lives, which makes me feel like the most blessed person on earth.

Let's celebrate this 30th Anniversary by giving away not four, but eight dinner packages this year. Each time you are in the office during May, you will be entered into the drawing. As a thank you for reading this newsletter, just stop in to wish us Happy 30th and sign up for the drawing as well.

Again, thank you for being our patient!
We appreciate you and look forward to serving you.
